

Think that you are a disabled person Reading, writing even eating are so hard Awareness is the key of happiness Dreams eliminate obstacles

It's not the disability that matter's in one's life but unconditional love

The things that make you distinguished from others aren't the disabilities but your points of view.

I learn differently not better, not worse.

Opening up to opportunities is easier than you think.

Not a deficiency being disabled, it is a difference

Actually, the biggest deficiency is lovelessness.

Loneliness is the worst feeling, don't be scared to be friends with disabled people

Disability is not incapability, just believe in yourself and don't give up

In our hearts you have a special place Share your love with them whenever you see disabled ones .

Happiness doesn't get stuck in obstacles Everybody want to be happy, need somebody to love, someone who will accept us just the way we are

So never give up because your imperfections make you perfect person!
